Call for papers

The International Conference on Artificial Intelligence and Cybersecurity (AI & Cybersecurity 2026) aims to bring together researchers, academics, industry professionals, and practitioners to share recent advances, innovative research results, and practical experiences in the fields of Artificial Intelligence and Cybersecurity. With the rapid evolution of intelligent systems and the increasing complexity of cyber threats, the integration of AI techniques into cybersecurity has become a critical research area. This conference provides a multidisciplinary forum to discuss theoretical foundations, emerging technologies, and real-world applications at the intersection of Artificial Intelligence and Cybersecurity.

Topics of Interest

Authors are invited to submit original and unpublished research papers including, but not limited to:

- Machine Learning and Deep Learning
- Cyber Threat Intelligence and Attack Detection
- AI-based Malware Analysis and Detection
- Adversarial Machine Learning
- Security and Privacy in AI Systems
- Big Data Analytics for Cybersecurity
- Network and Cloud Security
- IoT and Smart Systems Security
- Blockchain and Distributed Ledger Security
- Digital Forensics and Incident Response
- Risk Assessment and Cyber Defense Strategies
- Explainable AI (XAI) for Security Applications

Paper Submission

Submitted papers must be original, unpublished, and not under review elsewhere. All submissions will be peer-reviewed by the Program Committee based on: originality, technical quality, relevance and clarity. Papers must be written in English and formatted according to the conference guidelines.
